Headquartered in Dublin, Ohio, COPEC is a non-profit organization that offers a variety of education opportunities in the local community with the mission to provide individuals greater knowledge on issues involving many disciplines. This outreach is generally attained by partnering with local companies, churches, associations and organizations by providing free workshops and seminars to their employees, members and/or volunteers.

All COPEC programs are presented by local volunteer experts and are provided with the goal of overall education without the influence of individual company marketing or sales presentations.
